

I think Sorenson should be allowed to have subscribers use their service solely. This way the money they receive from the FCC goes into improving and providing sign language users the best service (certified interpreters) and equipment (latest technology) free. Otherwise, why would Sorenson bother to give equipment away free?